AMERICAN HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF GERMANS FROM RUSSIA

Honoring our Past • Embracing the Future

The mission of the American Historical Society of Germans from Russia is to discover, collect, preserve, and share the history, cultural heritage, and genealogical legacy of Germanic settlers in the Russian Empire.

INTERNATIONAL FOUNDATION

The International Foundation of the American Historical Society of Germans from Russia (IFAHSGR) is responsible for exercising financial stewardship to generate, manage, and allocate resources, which advance the mission and assist in securing the future of AHSGR.

AHSGR HISTORY

The Germans from Russia story begins in 1762 with the Manifesto issued by Catherine the Great. Migrations to Russia were many and by the end of the 19th century, there were about 1.8 million Germans in Russia. In 1872, the Germans in Russia began to emigrate to the United States, Canada, Brazil, and Argentina.

With a large population of Germans from Russia in Nebraska, Kansas, and Colorado, there was interest in forming an organization. Thus, AHSGR was founded in 1968 and incorporated that same year in the state of Colorado. AHSGR is designated as a 501 (c)(3) tax-exempt organization by the IRS. Volunteers and staff at both local chapter and international levels search for information, translate documents, and develop a store-house of knowledge useful to current and future generations.

In 1973, the AHSGR office was relocated to Lincoln, Nebraska. On June 15, 1983, at its 15th International Convention, AHSGR dedicated its newly constructed International Headquarters Building and Heritage Center. At the 25th International Convention in Denver, Colorado, in 1993, the complex was named the AHSGR Cultural Heritage Research Center. The center is between 6th and 7th streets from C to D streets, in the neighborhood known as the South Bottoms, designated by the National Park Service as a Historic District. The South Bottoms and North Bottoms neighborhoods were the principal settlements of Germans from Russia in Lincoln at the turn of the 20th century.

The Cultural Heritage Research Center (Headquarters Complex) includes:

- Jake Sinner Headquarters Building
- Emma Schwabenland Haynes Library & Archives, which includes the following individual collections:
 1. David J. Miller Collection
 2. Lawrence A. Weigel Collection
 3. William and Edith Spady Historical Records Collection
- Arthur E. Flegel Genealogical Center
- Museum with displays and artifacts
- German from Russia Pioneer Family Commemorative Statue by Pete Felton and Brick Garden
- Historical Village buildings:

WHO ARE WE AND WHAT IS AHSGR?

BY MICHAEL BROWN

On Saturday night my grandparents, who were farmers, turned on the TV and adjusted the antenna to receive the “Lawrence Welk Show.” Welk was a band leader with a music variety show that appealed to an older audience. I preferred the excellent bass playing of Randy Meisner with the Eagles, and later the songwriting of Chris Isaak. Although I didn’t know it at the time, the musicians and my family had one thing in common, we are descendants of “Germans from Russia.” A quick search reveals that Germans from Russia have been prominent in business, film, music, politics, and sports. Sounds somewhat confusing. Are these people German, Russian, or American? The answer is yes! These identities reflect the cultural characteristics and circumstances of a unique people whose history is still being written.

In the 1760s, Empress Catherine the Great of Russia, who was born into German nobility, invited German-speaking peoples of Europe to establish agricultural villages in the Russian Empire. She promised benefits including keeping their language, traditions, and religion, along with exemptions from certain taxes and military service. It was an attractive offer. The first Germans to arrive settled along the Volga River, with later groups settling the Black Sea regions, into the Caucasus and the Volhynian area of today’s Poland. They became known as hard workers, dedicated to their families and communities, with strong religious convictions. For generations these people remained German in their identity and culture while Russian in their citizenship.

The late 1800s and early 1900s brought significant social changes that threatened the German way of life. German Russians were viewed with some derision, exemptions were eliminated, and civil unrest brought chaos and hardship. The result was a movement of German Russians into the Americas. The North American Great Plains and the prairies of Canada became important destinations, as did areas of South America. These are our DNA relatives, The “Germans from Russia.”

Most did not emigrate. Those choosing to stay suffered through the revolution and under Soviet policies. By the late 1920s the Soviets severely restricted correspondence with people outside the Soviet Union making contact with relatives in Russia nearly impossible. The final disconnection came when Germany invaded Russia in 1941 and German Russians were forced into exile in Siberia and Central Asia. Some died on the way, others disappeared in special settlements and gulag camps, and others were worked to death in the people’s army (trudarmya). When the Soviet Union finally dissolved, many of those who survived left Russia for Germany, while, again, some remained behind. These are also our relatives.

The story of what it means to be a “German from Russia” is epic with many twists, turns and tragedies and triumphs. The American Historical Society of Germans from Russia (AHSGR) is the premier nonprofit organization dedicated to the story of Germans from Russia. Its role “is to discover, collect, preserve, and share the history, cultural heritage, and genealogical legacy of German Settlers in the Russian Empire.”

Since its start in 1968, AHSGR has been dedicated and passionate about sharing what they know. The AHSGR library and research center has an extensive collection of resources to help patrons learn about the history, folklore, genealogy, and ethnic heritage of German Russian people; and these resources help people discover their personal family history and connect with lost relatives. AHSGR provides opportunities to interact with other Germans from Russia through annual conventions, chapter meetings, and online presentations. The AHSGR Journal provides cutting-edge research and information while the Newsletter keeps members informed about the important work of the organization. The epic story of the Germans from Russia continues to unfold and AHSGR will ensure the story is told.

My grandparents piqued my curiosity about being German Russian and AHSGR provided the resources to guide my curiosity. Once I learned about Germans from Russia I had a greater appreciation for my ancestors' sacrifices, and the success of people like Lawrence Welk. Through AHSGR I found that my family were original settlers along the Volga. I also found the names of relatives who moved to Kazakhstan, and I am still looking for more family. None of this would have been possible without the resources of AHSGR and their important work.

SUGGESTED READING ON THE HISTORY OF GERMANS FROM RUSSIA

All the books listed below may be borrowed from the AHSGR Library via interlibrary loan, and some may be available for purchase from the AHSGR Bookstore at www.ahsgr.org.

Conquering the Wind*, by Amy Brungardt Toepfer and Agnes Dreiling. This book deals with the development of the early Volga colonies, particularly with life in the Catholic villages. It also follows some of the families from these villages to the plains of Kansas where they settled in Ellis County.

From Catherine to Khrushchev*, by Adam Giesinger. An historian's history of Germans in Russia from the 17th century to 1970. The book includes a useful chapter locating individual colonies within their geographical and governmental districts, twenty-seven pages of maps, and a bibliography of nearly 200 items.

The German Colonies in South Russia, Vol 1 & 2*, by Conrad P Keller. Vol. 1 provides a historic geographical overview of all the Black Sea mother colonies, with a more detailed account of the Liebental colonies, particularly the Catholic villages of Kleinliebental, Josephstal, Mariental, and Franzfeld. Vol. 2 provides information of value for genealogists of the Berezan colonies, since it includes detailed information about the original settlers.

The 'German Question' in the Black Sea Region and in Volhynia*, by Dietmar Neutz. The book covers a key period in German Russian history that involves the second half of the nineteenth century, as well as the first two decades of the twentieth century when Russian public discussion focused on the German colonists in the south and southwestern Russian empire and explores examples of the problems faced by ethnic, religious, and social minorities, when nationalism and economic difficulties occur.

History of the Volga German Colonists*, by Jacob E Dietz. This book is a fascinating documentation of the history, lives, economics and politics of their times. Historians have long known of the existence of the manuscript of Jacob Dietz, which has been included in a series of bibliographic guides, but its location was long unknown. It was found only a few years ago in the Engels branch of the State Archive of the Saratov Oblast.

Memorial Book Kazakhstan*, by Ludmilla Burghardt, Johannes Dyck, Olga Litzenberger, Waldemar

Schmidt, Michael Wanner. This book discusses the state terror inflicted on Germans from 1919-1953 in modern day Kazakhstan.

The Odyssey of Anna K*, by Wilmer A. Harms. The dramatic accounts of thousands of German Russians fleeing Russia and escaping through China to the Americas.

Thunder on the Steppe*, by Dr. Timothy and Rosalinda Kloberdanz. The authors collected numerous examples of modern Volga German folk traditions in Russia, and many of these are described in Thunder on the Steppe folksongs, folk medicine, proverbs, nicknames, poetry, dialect stories, drinking toasts, and food ways including recipes for Volga style vegetable soup, Gatletta (meat patties), Grebbel, Trockne Nudel, Riwwelkuche, Petschenya (cookies), and other dishes.

The White Lamb*, by Mela Meisner Lindsay. A novel depicting the life of the author's mother in a Volga colony, her immigration to America, and the life of the early Germans from Russia in Kansas. This is pleasant reading enjoyed by all generations.

Wir Wollen Deutsche Bleiben*, by George J. Walters. Despite the German title, the book is in English. In writing this story of the Volga Germans from Catherine the Great through World War II, Walters used first-hand reports and information from captured German war documents on microfilm at the National Archives to make this book more personalized than the previously mentioned works.

DONOR OPPORTUNITIES

Your membership dues support the ongoing operations of AHSGR, but these funds are not sufficient to support all that we do to meet the mission of AHSGR. Our programs and services rely on the generous donations provided by our members.

We are grateful to the many people who have donated time and funds to make AHSGR what it is today. However, there is much more to be learned about our heritage. Availability of funds determines how many additional records we can purchase, translate and publish, how much of our vast collection can be digitized; and how much new content and tools can be added to our website.

Your support will help AHSGR continue its quest to keep our rich cultural heritage alive, thereby reaching from the past to the present and on to future generations yet to come. Please consider the following ways to help.

SOCIETY OPERATING FUND

The Society Operating Fund supports the ongoing operations of AHSGR. This critically important funding stream allows us to operate the Heritage Center's library, museum, and campus buildings as well as providing funds for:

- business operations and member support services
- maintaining facilities and enhancing research and technology capabilities
- digitizing AHSGR's vast holdings to increase the information available on-line.

Your contribution can also be designated towards obtaining ancestral records, translation of documents, or other special projects.

Your donation may be tax-deductible. AHSGR is a federally registered 501(c)(3) not-for-profit corporation. As such, monetary donations to AHSGR are tax-deductible to the extent allowed by an individual's or corporation's circumstances. Please consult your tax advisor for further information.

Employee Matching Gift Programs. Many companies match charitable donations made by their employees. Some companies continue this benefit for retirees. This is a fantastic way to increase your gift to AHSGR. Please check with your employer to determine if they have a matching gift program.

Consider making a Planned Giving donation. Planned Giving options include outright gifts, charitable gift annuities, charitable remainder trusts, charitable income lead trusts, IRAs and pension plans, gifts of life insurance, endowment fund gifts, life estate reserved, and bequests and wills. For details on Planned Giving options, contact us at (402) 474-3363 or contact us online. Interested in making a qualified charitable distribution from your IRA to the AHSGR? Please download this form: IRA Qualified Charitable Distribution Form

BRICK GARDEN PROGRAM

Hundreds of red bricks surround the base of the Germans from Russia statue at the entrance of the Heritage Center in Lincoln, Nebraska. The sale of these bricks provides revenue for the Society, as well as providing a beautiful brick garden base honoring the names of the German Russian ancestors.

Online donations are quick and easy using our secure credit card transactions: <https://ahsgr.org/donate/>

We welcome donations of all sizes and payment plans - whether it's a one-time or recurring gift, part of a matching gifts program or a Planned Giving Donation.

If you have a unique donation request, please contact us at (402) 474-3363 or contact us online.

Recognize your family's German Russian heritage by purchasing a brick for the walkway at AHSGR Heritage Center.

The panels for "Our Immigrant Ancestors," a collection of honorary plaques purchased to celebrate people of German Russian ancestry, have been reimaged and reinstalled near the Heritage Center's entrance to continue honoring those names and families.

Thanks to the generous funding of our Give To Lincoln Day donors, the AHSGR Heritage Center building added new rock edging around the building perimeter. The rocks around the perimeter also covered areas where grass refused to grow and provides the building with better insulation, protection against bugs and rodents, will reduce mowing and mulching costs, and provides a more attractive and finished look to the structure.
